(YOUR NAME) ACHIEVES CERTIFIED DIABETES CARE AND EDUCATION SPECIALIST STATUS

(Arlington Heights, IL – Month 2020) The Certification Board for Diabetes Educators (CBDCE) announced that (your full name, title, place of employment and address) achieved Certified Diabetes Care and Education Specialist (CDCES) status by successfully passing the Certification Examination for Diabetes Care and Education Specialists. Candidates must meet rigorous eligibility requirements to be able to take the Examination. Achieving certification status demonstrates to people with diabetes and employers that the health professional possesses distinct and specialized knowledge, thereby promoting quality of care for people with diabetes. Currently, there are over 19,900 diabetes care and education specialists who hold CDCES certification. The certification designation was previously known as Certified Diabetes Educator or CDE.

You may want to include another paragraph with more personal information here, e.g., how long you have held your current position, specifics about your institution's diabetes services, etc.

CBDCE is a national not-for-profit certification organization that is responsible for overseeing the certification program for diabetes care and education specialists and awarding the CDCES credential to qualified individuals. The CDCES® program is accredited by the National Commission for Certifying Agencies (NCCA).

Established in 1986 as the National Certification Board for Diabetes Care and Education or NCBDE, CBDCE's mission is to promote comprehensive and ongoing quality diabetes clinical management, education, prevention and support by defining, developing, maintaining and protecting the certification and credentialing processes.

CBDCE supports the concept of voluntary, periodic certification for all diabetes care and education specialists who meet credential and experience eligibility requirements. For more information on CBDCE, visit the web site at www.cbdce.org or contact the national office at info@cbdce.org or 847-228-9795.
